THE FIRST WEEK

Of the Great Trial Summarized by Emily Crawford

Rennes, Aug. 14.—The battle has begun in earnest. Its political bearings are shown in the arrest of Paul Deroulede, the deputy and poet, and twenty-three of his numerous Royalists and Honapartist allies, who have pooled with him against the republic. As in the Boulangist conspiracy, the pool would be of little consequence but for the military caste, which has found representative men in General de Negrier and some other generals having great commands.

Negrier and some other generals having great commands.

It is a strange thing how the fight thickened around the shadowy and emaclated red-haired Jew, whose uniform of an artillery captain so ill fits and befits his figure and physiognomy.

Last Monday's sitting of the court martial and the subsequent non-public sittings were the first skirmishing operations, but Saturday was a field day, in which the two hostile forces into which France is divided and has been alince the revolution, set themselves in array of battle and drew the first blood. Each side stands committed to a certain course and has burned its ships. The actual Dreyfus trial is a trial of strength. I can not see a possibility of its ending in a drawn game. It is now a 'neck or nothing' combat, a desperate fight in which neither side will give in unless utterly routed. SAN MATEO OURS a desperate fight in which neither side will give in unless utterly routed.

The moral situation of the forces engaged reminds one of the armies of the French revolution and those they had to fight. The Dreyfusites have the brains, the forward impulse, the dash and the flexibility. At the same time they are raw recruits, gathered spontaneously from the four points of the compass. Hatred of the military caste and, it may be, the secret hope of rewards have made them homogeneous.

suited in the occupation of San Mateo.

The American loss was three killed and thirteen wounded, including a leutenant of the Twenty-first infantry.

The Americans approached San Mateo in three columns. Major Cronin, with 150 men of the Twenty-fifth infantry, advanced from Novaliches, five miles west of San Mateo. Captain Rivers, with a hundred men of the Fourth cavalry, and Captain Parker, formerly licutenant colonel of the Twelfth New York volunteer regiment, with 280 men of the Twenty-first and Twenty-fourth infantry and the Fourth cavalry, approached in two columns The Nationalists have social and The Nationalists have social and other prestige, numbers and organization. General Young accompanied Captain Parker's column and was under fire throughout the engagement. It is estimated that the enemy numbered between 300 and 400 men.

JERRY SIMPSON IS SICK. Kansas Statesman Has Seen In

Search of Health In Missouri. Ex-Congressman Jerry Simpson has een at Excelsior Springs for his health and a Kansas City paper has the following to say of him: When Mr. Simpson arrived at the hotel two weeks ago he registered as follows: "Jerry Simpson, Wichita." The news reached the parlor, which adjoins the office, and several feminine guests bustled out to look at the signature.

"Oh," giggled one of them, addressing the clerk,"I wonder if he wears socks?" Mr. Simpson was standing hard by and overheard the remark. The women all laughed at this well worn witticism, but they stopped suddenly when Jerry quietly said to the clerk: "I wonder if they wear stockings?" The women then fled to the parlor and their comments on the Kansas man were not very flat-tering.

Jerry Simpson is now the editor of a paper in Wichita. This paper is one of politics and is called Jerry Simpson's Bayonet. He uses it to prod his political enemies. He likes to be an editor man, he says, and he has a better opinion of newspaper men since he went into the business.

Simpson is a very sick man, and has lon of newspaper men since he went into the business.

Simpson is a very sick man, and has cancelled a number of speech making dates to go to Washington to have an operation performed. His filmess is caused, he says, by many years of drinking the alkall and gypsum waters of his part of the country. He says that after a man has drunk gypsum water for 20 years his machinery gets eaten up. This beverage of the short grass country will eat the bottom out of a tin bucket in a week and devour a locomotive boiler in a relatively longer time. There is not the sparkle to Jerry's conversation that there was, and he does not care to talk much about politics. His step is very slow and weak also, and about the only exercise he takes is a walk to his wash-woman's to deliver his laundry and to call for it again. And once he went into the plunge and the populace flocked to see him absorbatic to the says and the call to the says and the populace flocked to see him absorbatic to the says and the call to the says and the populace flocked to see him absorbatic to the says and the populace flocked to see him absorbatic the says and the say General Mercler's deposition was inaudible unless to the judges and shorthand reporters. It fell flat, his voice and delivery being bad. But we have it now in print. It has qualities for which we did not give it credit during delivery. They are easy, flowing statements, plausibility and the art of lulling suspicion being their distinguishing features. As the deposition appears in full in the reports, it will everywhere be read, with delight by those already persuaded that Dreyfus is a traitor.

The deposition, which was really a speech for the prosecution, shows Mercier to be a flautist of the highest order, He never loses his way in the most in-

I must give the Nationalists credit for having, from the very beginning, foreseen what revision would lead to. They, in many things, showed blindness. They accepted the madman Quesnay de Beaurepaire as their spokesman. But they had a keen Instituct for the ultimate trend of the revisionist movement, Dreyfus is generally unfortunate in the use of the pen. He lacks artistic semsihilities and cannot disassociate himself from his ego to enter the feelings of others. One sees this harsh egotism in his correspondence with his wife. He was never more unfortunate than in the letter complaining that M. Casimir-Perier did not keep a promise to him, it exasperated. Casimir-Perier, who treated as a foul libei the assertion that he, as president of the republic, entered into a pact with an officer accused of thinking morbidly. He has taken deep offense at several assertions of Mercler and will try conclusions with him. We expect fur to fly—in Casimir-Perier's case canine, in Mercler's feline.

Dingley used to wear a fine plug hat that was a regular 'cloud of smoke by day and a pillar of fire by night.' We Populists used to take a shot at it every once in a while. When he was in the house Dingley always kept it sitting on the corner of his desk. One day a Republican happened to look into it and said to me, 'Jerry, go over and look in Dingley's hat.' I did so but didn't find any eggs or anything, and said so. I was told to look again. Then I saw the word 'London," and sailed into Dingley, the high priest of protection, for wearing a London made hat, I was in fun, but Dingley took the matter very seriously and spluttered and fumed and said 'It's all rot. That hat was made in Connecticut and the London was put in it to catch the dudes.' Then I said, 'Well, I caught a dude from Maine with it.' He wouldn't speak to me for a "About that Dingley hat episode! It it.' He wouldn't speak to me for a month on that account, but one day I went up to him and said: 'See here, went up to him and said: 'See here, Dingley, how much longer are you going to sulk about that old hat business?' and he laughed and put out his hand and we became good friends again. San Francisco, Aug. 14.-From advices brought here by the steamship Centennial it is believed the Warren bringing the Colorado regiment, which salled from Manila July 16, and which was expected to arrive here on Wednesday next, will not reach this port earlier than next Friday, the 18th instant. After leaving Manila the Warren ran up against a typhoon, which battered her up considerably and had to face also a mutiny among her men. As a result twenty-four of the Warren's crew underwent trial and were sentenced for long terms, varying from three months to two years, and the Warren is salling for San Francisco with a green crew of Filipinos. The mutiny was brought about by one of the men claiming he was sick and refusing to work. He was placed in irons. Every man in the crew then quit work and declared they would not resume until their comrade was released and sent to the hospital. They were all court-martialed and sentenced as above indicated. After leaving Manila the Warren ran up on Topeka avenue occupied by street car tracks.

It was originally intended that the property owners should buy the brick and the city would do the work of paving. This would cost about $16 per lot. City Attorney Bird now holds that this can not legally b done, but the paving must go through the regular course the same as if the street had never been paved. Mayor Drew has accordingly appointed appraisers to report on the value of the property.

This plan will make the cost to the property owners somewhat more, probably $21 per lot. It is not thought that the method of procedure will delay the paving to a great extent.

EVANS CLEARED.

G. A. R. Investigation Committee Exonerates the Pension Commissioner.

Washington, Aug. 14.—The special committee appointed by the G. A. R. to investigate the charges which have been made by pension attorneys, principally, against the administration of Commissioner Evans is now at work on its report. The report will be ready for presentation to the G. A. R. at the Philadelphia encampment. The investigation made by the committee elicited a great deal of interesting information about the manner in which the national government is caring for its old soldiers, and finds that the charges are without foundation. The report will close with the following findings:

"The entire organization of the Pension bureau is controlled by men who served in the union army. It is essentially a 'soldier's bureau,' and in all matters pertaining to the organization of the different divisions, in appointments and promotions, the ex-union ments and promotions, the ex-union soldier and sailor had the preference. The statute which gives preference to the union soldiers of the rebellion has een faithfully observed by the officers of the bureau.

"It is well known that the foundation of much of the criticism that has arisen against the administration of the bureau will be found in the refusal of the commissioner to allow the cialm agents to run the bureau.

"He has striven to afford claimants who are not represented by attendance."

result they have organized a systematic attack upon the bureau in all directions thereby endeavoring to create a sentiment of hostility among the soldiers toward the administration of the pension bureau, when, as a matter of fact, all the officers and cierks are putting forth their best efforts to adjudicate claims justly and speedily and in conformity with the law is it exists.

"On assuming the duties of his office, the commissioner realized that it would not be an easy nor a pleasant task, and therefore he selected for the positions of responsibility the most competent ex-Union soldiers that he could find in the bureau, believing that the soldiers of the country would appreciate the fact that their old comrades in arms were to have charge of the settlement of their claims upon the government for pensions.

The work of the bureau has fully justified the expectations of the commis-sioner, and it is believed that the de-termination of the commissioner to adtermination of the commissioner to adjudicate claims in accordance with the law has received the approbation of all worthy claimants for pension, and all others who believe that the pension laws should be administered in the spirit which prompted their enactment, but who do not ask the officers of the bureau to go beyond the law to satisfy the demands of the claim agents."

LODGES ENTHUSIASTIC. Members Are Booming the City Hall Proposition.

Some of the members of the fraternal beneficiary organizations in Topeka are anxious to see the city hall proposi are anxious to see the city hall proposition carry on account of the good that the building will do the different orders that have lodges here in the way of bringing big lodge meetings to the city. At present lodge men are very careful about asking for grand lodges to be held in Topeka on account of a lack of hall facilities. The local lodges are expected to furnish such things, and even when they are able to secure a hall large enough, the rent of it has to be paid for by the local lodge members. Some of the larger gatherings are taken to representative hall, but it is not large enough to accommodate any besides delegates, and for this reason the outside lodge members do not generally try to attend the grand lodge meetings here.

With a hall of sultable dimensions with a hall of suitable dimensions, such as is designed to be included in the new city building, furnished free, lodge men say that they can bring the largest meetings to Topeka, and they will be attended not only by the representatives and delegates, but by many lodge members from over the state who will come solely to look on. The cost will be comparatively triffing to the local members, because there will be no rent to be paid.

In addition to that supreme lodges can be brought to Topeka, which the city can not ask for at present, because there is no place in the city to hold them. At present all these supreme lodges of any importance always go to other cities which have large halls to accommodate them. Topeka is a great lodge town. Fraternal beneficiary societies flourish here like mushrooms, and there ought to be eight or ten big lodge meetings here every year instead of one or two. In order that Topeka may secure these the fraternal lodge men want to see the city hall proposition carry.

The unfortunate girl's principal hallucination is that she is talking with spirits all the time, and when the spirits tell her to do anything she does it. It is thought that the hot weather is responsible for her condition. The first peculiarities in her actions were noticed Saturday afternoon, and during the evening she became so deranged that the officers were summoned to take charge of her. After she had finished her evening's work she went to the home of Rev. Peter Persson, pastor of the Swedish Bethel church, on Clay street, and refused to go away. It was here that officers were summoned.

One of the peculiar actions that she performed while the officers were coming for her was to tear up her hat and attempt to eat the feathers. She sald the spirits told her to. She was taken to the police station and kept in charge of Mrs. Thorpe until this morning, when Mrs. Thorpe made a formal complaint in the probate court charging her with insanity. She was docile and made very little trouble, but apparently was not at all rational. She is 21 years old.

WHEAT—A broader market in wheat and sentiment generally bullish has caused another advance in this cereal. Cables were 3:d higher and influenced a change among numerous traders who have been waiting for the foreign markets in some way to respond to our home news. The government report which was extremely bullish to the minds of many, has not passed over this month as on previous occasions but has korked a great influence and caused shorts to feel uneasy. This class have been best buyen today, although considerable new speculative buying has been noticeable. There were soje reports of frost in extreme northwest which aided early strength. A decrease of $50.000 in visible is the first it some time. No export business was reported in wheat. The close is strong at about top prices.

wheat. The close is strong at about top prices.

CORN has been steady but duil. The speculative trude has not been important. Country offerings are light. Cash demand good for prompt shipment. There was an increase on passage of 1,220,000. World's shipments 8,152,600 were swelled by the big shipments 8,152,600 were swelled by the big American exports. The visible decreased 22,000. Weather perfect. Clearances 475,000.

OATS have been slow range only to cent and prices practically same as Saturday. There continues a sharp cash demand for mixed oats but receipts are increasing, 44 cars with 700 estimated tomorrow. The visible decreased 524,000; iocal stock decreased 114,000.

PROVISIONS—The early advance

New York, Aug. 14.

Foreign houses will buy in the aggregate of 15,000 shares principally scuthern issues. Specialties will be the order of the day. Panhandle is booked for a further substantial advance. Steel issues will do better. A. S. W. will be a banner boarer, but neither Federal Steel nor National Steel will be laggards. The sharts in Coalers will be driven to cover. Sugar will be erratic. Sales made on rallies of a couple points should be covered on quick recessions. We continue builtsh of Grangers, because we believe that the short interest is large and that conditions are too good to permit any thing of a bear campaign in stocks. Settlement of the strike should help smelters.
